Reinisch Wilson Weier PC provides decades of experience as the Pacific Northwest's largest dedicated workers' compensation defense and employment counsel to leading self-insured businesses, insurers and claims services companies in Oregon and Washington:

Leadership: since our inception in 1983, our attorneys have resolved nearly 30,000 of some of the most complex workers' compensation claims cases.

Strategy: focusing on our clients' interests, we promote and aggressively defend their goals whether in negotiation or in adversarial litigation.

Execution: we develop and execute creative administrative action plans, engage in cost-effective negotiations and present well-organized arguments to achieve the best possible outcomes.

Education: we continually share our time and experience as leaders and speakers in over 30 educational seminars and individualized training to clients, associations and the industry annually.

As statutes and administrative rules have evolved, so have our attorney's success before administrative law and appellate judges. Many of our cases have been at the forefront of case law that have resulted in changes made by the legislatures and by the Oregon Workers' Compensation and Washington State Labor and Industry divisions.

We provide more than advice and representation. We provide confidence. ■

Client Service

Employers and insurers strive to manage claims in a manner that is both fair to the worker and in compliance with the law. However, this is not always easy. In fact, employers and insurers in Oregon are subject to a high level of regulation and oversight, which carries with it a slew of penalties, sanctions and reprimands for noncompliance.

I serve my clients knowing and appreciating that they work in a fast-paced and highly regulated field. I understand that the best outcome is finality to a claim whenever possible, be it through litigation or mediation. This is achieved through preparation, aggressive advocacy and common sense.

My clients are my number one priority. I am easily accessible and make a point of being responsive. I can be reached at any time with general questions on Oregon law, claim management and processing or litigation defense.
